Vast Electrical Works In Reich Capital Hit By High Explosive Bomb

Today's War Moves

By J. W. T. MASON
British United Press War Expert
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
IN the exchange of air raids over London and Berlin, the Germans have the advantage of shorter distances and numerical superiority while the British have higher average aviation efficiency.

The German planes probably do not have to fly more than an average of 200 or 250 miles from their trans-channel bases to London and back. The route from the British coast to Berlin and back, however, measures 1,200 miles. This explains why the British night raids over Berlin are always of shorter duration than the German night raids over London, since the fuel capacity of an airplane is limited.

The Germans lately have been showing less reluctance to engage in night flying. They had neglected effective training in blind flying, trusting to their map-reading to dominate the air by daylight attack, when there is far better opportunity to bomb selected targets. Air combat is almost impossible at night between opposing planes.

Neither Britain nor Germany sends its fighters aloft to meet enemy bombers at night while the anti-aircraft guns are in action, since invisibility would make possible their own destruction from ground fire.

The main German air objective has been to annihilate the British Air Force, which could be attempted only by daylight combat. Hitler has had no success in this purpose, and the night fighting is now being developed by the Germans.

Daylight offensives, however, continue due to the greater number of German planes.

The British are holding their own planes at home in the day time, except for quick daylight raids mostly over the near German base in occupied territory, where damage is expected. With American supplies of planes beginning to reach Great Britain, it is possible that by next spring, the British will have superiority over the Germans. In this case, daylight air offensives over Germany, on a mass scale may be expected.

Main Berlin Fire Station Damaged While Glares Of Many Fires Visible—Raid Lasts For Two Hours

By FREDERICK C. OCHSNER
United Press, Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin
BERLIN, Aug. 31.—British bomber planes blasted Berlin with high explosive and incendiary bombs in a two-hour pre-dawn raid today as the first year of the war drew to a close.

The official news agency said in a communique that bombs had struck public buildings and private houses in the central city as well as in residential districts and that roof fires had been started and buildings wrecked.

A high command communique, reporting that British bombers had raided Berlin and other parts of Germany, said: "A number of bombs fell in the city centre as well as in the working class section of the Reich capital. Here, as in other parts of the Reich, material damage caused was unimportant. There were no fatal casualties but several civilians were wounded."

Siemens-Schuckert electrical works were hit by one high explosive bomb which ripped out about 60 feet of the wall on one plant building. In another part of the big factory two incendiary bombs started fires in a yard where lumber was stored.

Glazes, apparently from fires, were visible at several points in southeastern Berlin during the raid, and after the "all clear" had sounded a United Press correspondent saw two barricaded areas, in one of which a fire was still burning.

On the missing days, from Aug. 9 to Aug. 23, British fighters shot down 30 German planes, while German fighters shot down three British planes. In addition, 30 German planes were destroyed by anti-aircraft guns, and 1,000 Nazi machines have been shot down.

DUTCH QUEEN HONORED ON HER BIRTHDAY

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Netherlands gathered in Queen's Hall today to celebrate the 60th birthday of Queen Wilhelmina—first in her 42-year reign spent on foreign soil.

The Queen herself was not present. Prince Bernhard, her ambassador, explained that she desired to spend the day quietly in her London home.

Birthday celebrations are being held in 40 countries and in the Netherlands Empire—everywhere there are Netherlands, except in their German-occupied homeland where the threat of heavy penalties prevented the population of more than 8,000,000 from joining.

Crown Princess Juliana, broadcast from Canada, praised her mother as an example of courage and unbreakable will power, saying she had "renounced one of the few joys remaining to her in exile—the company of those devoted to her."

Defence Minister Will Investigate Prison Camp Conditions, Escapes
BALEA, Ont., Aug. 31.—Hunger brought about the capture here today of Fritz Fietz, Nazi submarine petty officer who escaped yesterday with another prisoner of war from an internment camp in this Muskoka summer resort district. His companion, Herbert Naumann, infantry sergeant-major, was reported to have slipped through a cordon of searchers and made his way about 100 miles south of the camp to Toronto.

THINK NAZIS WILL OCCUPY PART RUMANIA

SUDBURY, Ont., Aug. 31.—Went out by 80 hours of precarious freedom in the northern Ontario town of Sudbury, where two of war—Theodore Meyer, 20, non-commissioned officer of the German army, and Hans Kibart, 25, aviator—were returned to prison today.

Kibart was recaptured shortly before noon, a few hours after an armed posse surrounded and captured his companion in the vicinity of the Spanish river bridge. Both fugitives surrendered without a fight.

Dispossessed Transylvanians Reproach Italy For What They Call Sell-Out
BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 31.—It was reported that 120 German divisions were concentrated not only to the north, watching the Balkan demarcation line, but also, 120 divisions would be about 1,500,000 men.

The demobilization of the Rumanian army will be expected to result in dispatch of additional oil to Germany, as Rumania will no longer be the excuse of withholding such supplies from the Reich because it is needed as an army reserve. It was believed that Germany would at once be given access to the Rumanian army oil reserves, and that henceforth the oil shipments to the Reich would be increased considerably.

Under a new rule of the German government, nothing may be sent from Germany on an air raid until an official announcement has been made, after the "all clear" signal. Then foreign correspondents may dispatch their stories, but the stories must conform to official announcements.

This rule was promulgated after the British raid on Thursday morning on Berlin. United Press dispatches were not released from Berlin until three hours and 44 minutes after the raid started.

The "all clear" came at 3:16 a.m. after an alarm period of one hour and 37 minutes.

MOST INTENSE RAID
The raid was described officially by Gen. Kurt Balueg, chief of police, as the most intense Berlin had suffered in mind of damage and the number of bombs dropped, since the start of the war a year ago tomorrow.

For the first time, the blast of anti-aircraft guns started Berliners.

Tens of thousands of Rumanian peasants flocked to Cluj, ancient Transylvanian capital. There elsewhere in Transylvania there were frequent anti-Fascist outbreaks with Italian-Banned largely for "selling out Rumania" as one speaker put it.

Many Transylvanians guess sent to the Soviet Union.

British Fighters, Ground Guns Drive Off Enemy Raiders

By WALLACE CARROLL
British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Huge formations of German war planes swept over London today, causing three air raid alarms. Today's bombing of the London area apparently was Germany's most determined effort to knock out the Royal Air Force.

Before 2 p.m., three powerful German air fleets had raced across the southeast coast and towards London, but the British fighting planes and anti-aircraft threw the Nazi raiders back in disorderly flight.

At least 38 of the German raiders which attacked Britain today were officially reported to have been shot down. Sixteen British fighters are missing, but 11 of the pilots are safe.

Seventh Alarm In 24 Hours

An alarm at 1:04 p.m., which lasted until the all-clear was sounded at 1:57 p.m., was London's seventh in a little more than 24 hours.

There were some casualties in the London area during this alarm but their extent was not known immediately.

During the third alarm the drone of German war planes was heard distinctly in the London area, followed immediately by the sound of machine gun fire which indicated that British fighters had swarmed up to attack the raiders.

Raiders on the London area coincided with attacks on towns on the southeast coast and inland from one point it was reported that German airmen had machine gunned women shoppers accompanied by children.

In one London district a whole block of working class homes was set afire but most of the tenants had taken refuge in shelters. Air raid warning sirens wailed seven minutes after the last bomb fell.

Another point in the London area Frank Pinkerton of the British United Press said reported.

Frank Pinkerton of the British United Press said reported. He heard very fierce dogfights overhead. A rain of bombs was falling in a district approaching the London area. The falling planes were far high to be seen until the sound of machine guns and the bursting of cannon was terrific. The anti-aircraft guns of the Royal Air Force were firing furiously.

It was estimated that about 300 German planes were involved in the attack. An air ministry communique said that 25 British planes were lost in air battles yesterday but 15 pilots were saved. The ministry added that anti-aircraft guns had shot down a bomber in north-west England last night. Germany lost 62 planes in operations against Britain Friday.

During the raid on London, approximately 30 German planes appeared over a southwest London district, and a number of bombs were dropped. The barrage ceased and the R.A.F. downed three German planes.

NAZI PLANES FLEE
The surviving German planes scattered and fled towards the coast. The parabombs of five German planes were seen falling down. Apparently no bombs were dropped. Part of the battle was fought in a few hundred feet above the ground.

Weather conditions were among the least of the surprise. The sky over London was cloudless.

Counting seven air raid warnings over London during the past 27 hours, the British left certain that Germany's real aerial blitzkrieg had begun.

Raid today on the London area began at 8:27 a.m.

There were 300 planes in the first fleet, which brought London a rush-hour alarm as raiders were on their way to work. The second fleet, which was made up of a non-existent address on this raid.

Victory More Certain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, said today he saw increasing evidence that his country had won the "Battle of Britain" and thus made ultimate victory in her war with Germany more certain.

Only two weeks of similar favorable air operations, he said, would win the war with Germany. The ambassador said he was confident that the British would win the war with Germany.

ALL-CANADIAN GROUP PLAYS GALLANT PART

"Grand Show" Says Legless Leader Of Famed Squadron After Raid

By D. E. BURRITT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
A ROYAL AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION, Sudbury, Ont., Aug. 31.—The All-Canadian Squadron of the R.A.F., led by their legless English commander, scored back into battle against German raiders today with a new fighting spirit born of the triumph scored over the Nazis yesterday.

Refreshed by a night's sleep they met today the thoughts of the legless leader, who had been confined to the Germanys yesterday afternoon in a morning when that nation's planes were approaching their port of origin.

They considered the outstanding achievement of the squadron which had shattered the odds when four days of the Dunkerque evacuation.

BAGGED SIX
Only four of the dozen Canadians in the ranks of the squadron were in action today. The All-Canadian Squadron, which has been in action in a large-scale battle, took part in yesterday's air battle over London, and today they were again in action.

TRAIN CREW EXONERATED MAN'S DEATH

Gerge Savick Struck By Locomotive—Whistle, Bell Sounded

Verdict that emphasized the blamelessness of the train crew, was rendered by a coroner's jury that Friday probed the death of Gerge Savick, 60, who died Wednesday after being struck by a C.N.R. locomotive near the 111 avenue crossing last Saturday.

The inquest, under the direction of Coroner Dr. F. A. Kellor, was held at the Foster and McGeary funeral chapel.

After naming injuries and shock as the cause of Savick's death, the jury's verdict stated: "No blame whatsoever should be attached to the train crew who did the best they could to avoid the accident."

INJURIES

Testifying as to the nature of the deceased's injuries, Dr. W. A. Wilson said that the 60-year-old man had been fractured in a dozen places and the left arm was completely dislocated. Fractures of the cervical spine and shock was named as the immediate cause of death. Savick had been given three blood transfusions.

Engineer A. W. Davis told of seeing a man walking along in front of the train, about 100 feet away. The man seemed to step away from the track on which the train was approaching and he moved suddenly right over on the track.

EMERGENCY STOP

The engineer said he pulled on the whistle with one hand and accepted the emergency brake with the other. The bell rang loudly and the train was stopped in about 25 to 30 feet.

Savick had been found lying almost directly opposite the engine cab, with his head about two feet from the rail, the engine stopped. Wilson and other members of the crew had moved the man because steam was jetting on the track.

Fireman C. E. Allen corroborated the evidence of the engineer, saying that the man was about 25 feet from the point he was struck, as witness to the left of the engine. He said that there were signs along the right of way warning against trespassing.

The following were members of the jury: H. Miller, E. English, J. James, B. Hughes, J. Martin and W. McDonald.

CITY PLAYING BIG PART IN AIR TRAINING

640 City and District Men Now Being Taught At Various Centres

Just over a year ago Edmonton's interest in the Royal Canadian Air Force was comparatively negligible as far as recruiting was concerned. The Empire was not at war then, and circumstances did not require that any other than routine increase be made in the Dominion's air arm.

But during the past year the R.C.A.F. has been placed on a wartime basis and in this connection Edmonton has taken its obligations nobly. Since the outbreak of war 640 young men of the Edmonton district alone have joined the R.C.A.F. and are now in training with the air force at centres throughout Canada and England.

AIR CREW WORK

Of the total, 173 have volunteered for air crew work—pilots, observers and gunners—remaining are all aircrewmen. The training centres, principally Toronto, Ottawa and Edmonton, are now recruiting more than 100 recruits a month. August 1937 recruits were sent to the R.C.A.F. in the first batch. Since then, recruits have been sent in regular batches.

NEW GROUP LEAVES

Fifteen Edmonton district recruits left the week for training at Brantford, Ontario, during the week. The group included Stanley W. Garfield and Harold D. Smith of Edmonton. Other recruits included: J. E. Evered, Bentley, Brian A. McCullum, Mundare, Norman E. Carter, Stiller, and others.

Citizen Says Alberta Can Grow Fruit Needs

Alberta will be growing enough fruit in ten or fifteen years to cover all her home consumption needs.

This rather amazing prophecy was made Saturday by A. Klaus, 1044 112 street, as he told a reporter about some of the wonderful improvements in fruit growing in the province during trips to various parts of Alberta.

Very much interested in horticulture himself, and cherishing a secret ambition to possess a market-garden of his own some day, Mr. Klaus says that apples, plums, grapes, all are being grown by expert and laymen alike, and some of the orchards even in this part of the country compare very favorably with those in Ontario.

Referring to the plant construction program for the production of munitions, Mr. Howe said some of the government-owned plants are already in operation. Through The Mill

It's hard enough to have that morning after the night before hangover feeling. But it's a whole lot worse when you have a shiver (blank verse) and bruised and battered (blank verse) through the local attack on pink elephants. And when you face the magnitude on the way, being a soldier, you would think that would be about enough for one morning.

Munitions, Supply Department Has Big Job to Equip Forces

In the three previous articles, dealing with Canada's war effort, outlines have been drawn showing the formation and activities of the armed service. In today's article James N. Crandall, British United Press and correspondent, describes some of the extensive responsibilities of the department of munitions and supply.

By JAMES N. CRANDALL
British United Press Parliamentary Correspondent

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 31—In a grey window building, hurriedly constructed following the outbreak of war, 600 men and women work night and day to keep the army, navy and air force adequately supplied.

Here on Wellington street at the west end of Parliament Hill, the department of munitions and supply has its headquarters. And here every order from a front line to a great coast guard is fully equipped and armed, ready to be sent to the front.

SPENDS MILLIONS DAILY

The board is spending an average of $1,000,000 daily on supplies. A part is for the British government, but the great majority is for the Canadian troops the navy and the air force.

In the plant survey and production department long rows of filing cabinets bring a wealth of information concerning Canadian industrial plants in the finger tips of officials whose duty it is to keep a steady flow of materials of standard quality at the disposal of the fighting forces.

A regimental quartermaster may be requisitioned for 30 rifles. He passes his order on to a divisional headquarters which in turn hands it over to the department of munitions and supply. The department then places the order in the hands of the department of munitions and supply.

If the department does not have the guns in hand the filing cabinets are referred to. Under the caption "Rifles" are listed the names of firms which are manufacturing this specific weapon or are capable of their production. Under the same listing will be the names of other firms whose plants could be converted into rifle production.

Tenders are then sent to the plants which the board feels are best equipped for immediate production. In the case of large orders the work is spread among as many plants as possible so that production will not be delayed.

BUILD UP SURPLUSES

Huge surpluses of war materials of all sorts are being built up on the board and shipped to divisional points where they may be most needed. Other reserves are being kept at divisional points ready for immediate shipment to either the army, navy or the air force. Every possible requirement of every branch of the service is cared for in this way.

One example of the wide variety of articles handled by the board is the recent announcement that since the outbreak of war a total of $44,000 worth of false teeth have been supplied.

Since the outbreak of war orders totalling more than $300,000,000 have passed through the hands of the board. Of this amount $25,000,000 has been placed with firms in Great Britain. American firms have received orders for almost $7,000,000 worth of goods and materials. The huge majority, totalling more than $271,000,000, has been placed in Canada.

Board officials admit that the figures are only approximate. While production and employment figures are not available, it is estimated that Canadian plants are producing at the highest peak in history and that with every passing day the production is being increased.

SEE LABOR SHORTAGE

Bottle-necks have developed in some sources of supply but have been easily overcome by calling on American industry. While no real shortage of skilled labor has yet been felt, government officials are looking ahead in order to avert any handicap.

With national registration completed each card is being carefully studied and the capabilities of every man and woman in the country will be catalogued. Some every skilled technician will be listed and he can if the need arises be drafted for service in any plant producing war material.

The munitions and supply board is divided into seven main branches: clothing section; aircraft section; tools, machinery and hardware section; lumber, furniture and wood products section; motor vehicles section; naval and militia section; barracks stores section.

Each department is headed by executives fully trained to meet the requirements of their particular divisions. The government has established companies to handle the production and buying of war materials and has aided private industry to enlarge plants to meet requirements. Plans for a new construction involve a capital expenditure of $120,000,000. When they are completed they will have a productive capacity of $300,000,000 per annum.

PROTECT IMPORTS

Two of the government-owned companies were organized to protect the supply of necessary imported raw materials which might be subject to interruption. It is the duty of these companies to keep in stock a considerable supply of these materials and to sell them to companies handling government contracts at circumstances warrant. In order not to defeat the purpose for which they were established, the names of these two companies and the commodities they handle have been kept secret.

As a consequence, the government and industry controllers have been appointed with wide regulatory powers in the lumber, petroleum, steel and non-ferrous metal industries. These controllers can purchase, export, manufacture and take virtually any steps in the mobilization of industry required to further the war effort. The effective prosecution of the war demands that there be no interruption of flow of basic commodities to supply the industries directly engaged in the production of war materials.

It is the duty of these controllers to see that these commodities are made available. Under normal conditions industry may be safely left to fill its requirements through the normal channels of trade. In time of war, control by government becomes necessary to prevent shortages and therefore do what is necessary to allocate existing supplies to essential industries.

The part which the department of munitions and supply is playing in the war is one of the most vital in Canada's war-effort. Unchecked, unfed, and unquipped soldiers are of no value and it is the duty of the department to see that a steady flow of needed supplies is kept moving, that further supplies are ordered, ready for immediate transfer, and that the war production is kept ahead.

U.S. AIRMEN TO FERRY PLANES OVER ATLANTIC

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—A small office force under Capt. Ernst Beyer, of Toronto, who flew the Atlantic several years ago, is working quietly here hiring experienced civilian United States pilots to ferry bombing planes across the ocean to Britain.

Co-pilots and radio men also are being hired, and it was believed 25 pilots and at least a similar number of co-pilots are being taken on each week. The men are sent to Montreal where they will be based until their work begins.

Officially it was reported pilots are receiving a salary of $1,000 a month for two flights in Britain with a bonus of $500 a flight for any number over two. Co-pilots are to receive $800 a month and bonuses of $400 for extra trips and radio men $600 a month and $300 bonuses. The men enter the employment of the British government when they are signed.

FARMER GIVEN PERMISSION TO 'SCARE' DUCKS

REGINA, Aug. 31—John W. Blackie, farmer of the Willowbush district, is armed with a special government permit to go out and conduct a nuisance "blitzkrieg" against the ducks which have been feeding on his crops. The permit which he obtained Friday permits him to "shoot to scare" the ducks. He may not shoot to kill.

French Colonialists Favor De Gaulle

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Aug. 31—British travellers reaching here Friday reported "acute" conditions in the French West Indian island of Guadeloupe, with 80 per cent of the population favoring Gen. Charles de Gaulle, the French "fight on" leader. They said there were numerous clashes between civilians and gendarmes and marines when news of the French-German armistice reached here.

GERMAN RED CROSS SHIPS ARE REFUSED

LONDON, Aug. 31—Britain announced today she would refuse to recognize as Red Cross ships immune from attack German vessels which the Nazis claim are used to rescue Nazi airmen shot down at sea. A German note announcing the Nazis intend to mark 64 ships with the Red Cross for such a purpose was countered by Britain with the assertion the "character and functions" of so many vessels were open to the "finest suspicions."

Germans have attacked British vessels engaged in saving both British and German airmen, officials said, and have "repeatedly and flagrantly" attacked bona fide hospital ships.

The reply to the German note was sent via Switzerland, through whom the original German announcement was made. It said the claim of Red Cross privileges for such vessels was "wholly inadmissible."

All About Our Own Country

By Nellie McClung

OUR carefree childhood in Canada has passed and the strange emotions of adolescence are disturbing us. People are looking at us and talking about us, and we are beginning to notice how big we are. This is the feeling I had when I read the book "The Kitchen Maid" by Ida Jean Kain.

We certainly had not thought of ourselves as anyone's problem until we read "The Kitchen Maid". It was written by a Canadian girl, and it is so true that it is a book that every Canadian should read. It is a book that tells us about the life of a girl who is a problem child in the eyes of the world, but who is a normal girl in the eyes of her own people.

PROBLEM CHILD
We have a problem child in Canada, belonging to the United States as well. Mr. MacCormac, a Canadian, is a problem child in the eyes of the world, but he is a normal man in the eyes of his own people. He is a man who is a problem child in the eyes of the world, but he is a normal man in the eyes of his own people.

It is quite a pleasant experience to read a book about ourselves. I know how much about Canada I did not know. I have had several night sessions with this book. Canada is the third largest country in the world, second only by China and Russia. We carry more freight by air than any other country. Though we have a cold climate there are no mosquitoes. Summer, though short, is perfect. Wheat in the Peace River country ripens in 90 days from the day it is sown. Crabs grow in the waters of Great Slave Lake more than 200 miles north of Edmonton. Potatoes at Fort Simpson have been known to grow in a week and a half. In the Arctic Circle, heather blooms on the hillsides and the caribou feed on it.

In 1931 there were less than a thousand white people in the Arctic Circle and now there are more than 10,000. The Arctic region has suddenly come into its own and the United States, because it is the shortest route to Asia, and if the present war should continue, the Arctic highway will certainly be built. So if we have not looked at a map of the Arctic since we were in school, we had better put one in the kitchen wall now and acquaint ourselves with it.

IN HEART OF CANADA
Montreal is the world's largest inland seaport, and when the St. Lawrence seaway project is realized, ocean vessels will dock at Fort William in the very heart of Canada. Because the St. Lawrence flows east, Canada looks eastward. No wonder Jacques Cartier called it the "River of Canada". It is more than just a river. It is a fact that has determined the character of Canada.

Canada has more space than the rest of the world. It is the only country in the world that can ever fill, and more so, than the rest of the world. It is the only country in the world that can ever fill, and more so, than the rest of the world. It is the only country in the world that can ever fill, and more so, than the rest of the world.

SLEEPED IN MEMORIES
There is romance in every corner of Canada. It is a land of romance, of romance, of romance. It is a land of romance, of romance, of romance. It is a land of romance, of romance, of romance. It is a land of romance, of romance, of romance.

CONEY ISLAND IS NOT AN ISLAND
Coney Island is not an island. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land.

Coney Island, Brooklyn resort in the suburbs of Brooklyn, N.Y., is one of those strange islands that are not islands at all. Once this strip of land was separated from the mainland by a narrow channel, but as that stream has long since filled up, Coney Island is no longer an island. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land. It is a strip of land, a strip of land, a strip of land.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

If there is a girl who does not want to be better looking, we have yet to meet her. But it seems the cool knockouts are the ones who actively go in for making themselves more devastating. The average run of the mill is confined to the weekly session with the hairdresser.

Most girls spend their spare time on the finishing touches and are, apparently, quite oblivious to the overwhelming effects of a flabby figure. We don't know whether this oversight is due to indifference, indifference to a blind streak, but, whatever it is, the real build-down means the average girl does not look better.

It takes gumption to exercise regularly, and Dana Dale has it—look at her figure! If you want proof, The Warner Brothers play illustrates two good exercises for pose and slimness.

The difference that can be made in your looks in ten days is almost beyond belief. You can slant your posture, slim an inch, and get rid of five pounds. That may be all that is necessary to make you stand out from the crowd.

The worst thing about the average figure is a bad posture. The hips trail slightly to back and, consequently, there is a compensatory curve of the shoulders. The obvious result is a hunched back. The obvious result is a hunched back. The obvious result is a hunched back.

Seven tablespoons of cereal twice daily is far too much for a child of this age. Two tablespoons should be ample. Then, in a month or so, if you want to begin vegetable feeding, you can start with a half egg yolk and not be overloading the baby's digestion.

Wherever you drop the night feeding you would be using whole milk. For a time, it would be better to use a small amount of whole milk and a small amount of water, and if necessary, slightly more syrup than the formula suggests.

What the mother needs to know is that the baby is not a creature of habit. The baby is not a creature of habit. The baby is not a creature of habit. The baby is not a creature of habit. The baby is not a creature of habit.

Answer: Generally speaking, a clergyman's wife should have all the social and domestic duties, and then some. She will need them all, and an abnormally delicate nervous system is the result of excessive in the which she is calling herself. To begin with, none of the duties of a clergyman's wife should be left to her. She should be a helpmate to her husband, and not a burden.

The fundamental reason for the great success of SUNNY BOY Cereal lies in the fact that it is composed of three of the best cereals: Whole Flax and Flax. These pure grain ingredients build strong muscles and firm muscles for growing children, and supply enduring energy to see them through active days at school and at play.

Children's keen appetites respond to foods that have health-building energy and satisfying flavor ... that is the reason they show a decided preference for SUNNY BOY.

Calgary Institute To Give Wide Training In Big Variety Of Courses

The buildings of the Institute of Technology and Art will be taken over by the British Empire Training scheme as a wireless school, as a consequence of which the work of the Institute will be conducted for the ensuing year, so far as the boys' mechanical program is concerned, in the Grandstand building, Victoria Park, Calgary.

The girls' work and the art school will be carried on in the former residence of Eugene Castle, Amherst avenue, Mount Royal, Calgary. The Grandstand building will be fitted up to carry the work without interruption as outlined in the announcement of the Institute, copy of which is sent on application to anyone interested.

The aviation course is designed to give a thoroughly sound background for those who wish to make a permanent career in this expanding field. No doubt the war will give a great impetus to commercial flying and those who are equipped will be more likely to have careers than those who take temporary work for specified purposes dictated by the war needs.

MOTOR MECHANICS

In the motor mechanics course runs for a period of three years and includes all the practical activities associated with the maintenance of motor equipment from the refueling of wheels to minor adjustments. This course is designed to qualify for garage work or for the maintenance of gas engine equipment.

In electricity a two-year program is offered. In the second year of which the student is given either electrical servicing and power house work or radio.

There is a very serious dearth of competent men available for any type of work in the building trades and young men are advised to give serious consideration to such vocations as carpentry, brick laying, plumbing, electrical wiring, etc. The Institute is prepared to offer practical instruction in these subjects either in day or evening classes. The same applies to survey drafting and mechanical drafting.

Electric and acetylene welding, batteries and trouble-shooting courses in tractors and farm machinery including forging are also available.

The Institute is in a particularly good position to give instruction in diesel engines and tractor equipment because of the close cooperation that has been worked out between the distributing companies and the Institute.

It is felt it is anticipated that A. C. Leighton, R.R.A., will return to the department after five years' absence. Mr. Leighton is an outstanding artist whose presence will add very much to raising the status of the Art department to one of the best in the Dominion of Canada.

DRESSMAKING

The dressmaking and millinery phase of the Institute work has found success will be offered in the Castle house at Western avenue. In all 100 prospects for a good year are better and those who are interested are cordially invited to the Institute information.

In addition the Institute operates a series of correspondence courses under the direction of Alex Higgins, P.E. M.E.O., M.A.S.M.E. These courses include wide training in theoretical subjects associated with wiring and household engineering and are designed to appeal particularly to men who have had practical training and experience and are desirous of qualifying themselves for government certificates as mine officials and power plant engineers. An interesting feature of these courses is that they are continuous and any applicant may start at the beginning at any time throughout the year.

Pupils Preparing to Plunge Into Studies After Long Holidays

Parents, however, are in the reverse position and practically gleeful. Many of them realize that school days will bring greater regularity into the family life as their children return to the school routine.

The look of dismay registered on the kiddie faces is one that we all have worn in younger and happier days. We can remember an old chagrin at the prospect of sitting at desks and wondering how much of the school work we would ever understand, or remember. That, however, was in the days before projects and enterprises were invented.

Not all the children, though, are dubious about this business of school. Many children are champing at the bit to get back to school, to return to their desks and pursue their-faded knowledge.

FATEFUL DAY

September 3 is the fateful day for Edmonton's school children. An early rising and thorough scrubbing or, if the weather is fine, a haircut which will find no favor with Mother, behind the ears, dimming of school clothes, the snatching of a hasty breakfast, and off the children go, laden with books and tushies to answer the bell heralding the 1940-1941 school term.

Even now, before August has dawned in a city there is much evidence of the back-to-school movement.

Bookshelves and attics are being scoured for those school books, piled up last June, and battalions of children are storming city shops for books, as the citizens of tomorrow prepare to go back to the school room and fit themselves for the task which will be theirs in the not distant future.

The Edmonton public school board has nearly completed its arrangements for taking care of the school population, which every year shows a substantial increase.

It is expected that more than 15,000 students of both sexes will file into the various school rooms in all sections of the city. Elementary classes will claim the greatest number of scholars, while intermediate and high school grades will probably rank in that order in the matter of school registration.

Now the close of the previous school term, it was reported that 9,000 students were in attendance at our high schools, 5,140 at intermediate and 8,050 at elementary schools.

Registration at separate schools tallied between 2,000 and 3,000 at the same period.

CLASS-ROOMS READY

Classrooms have been fixed up all in readiness for the opening morning and students will find that the inside of their class-rooms, as their duck lips have been filled in, so expertly that they will wonder if they are in the right place.

Two new schools are being built, the Glenora elementary school and the Westside high school, which will accommodate a large number of students early in the school year. The Glenora school will be opened in mid-September or early October, and the old Glenora school will be moved to the Westmount high school until the new buildings are ready.

Although the months of July and August have been care-free vacation days for the children, they constituted one of the busiest times of the year for school caretakers—the men who see that the buildings are kept up, polished and cleaned, painted and repaired.

The school book branch of the Alberta department of education reported recently that all the text books needed for the new school year have been ordered, and thousands of the books now rest on the shelves of school supply stores throughout the city.

The time draws near, and food mothers who have taken the childdropped off to renew old acquaintances with members of the teaching staff will wonder if that peace and quiet which prevails about the home is not just a dream.

There will be changes made too in the life of the faithful "house" whose enjoyment will be thoroughly spoiled by the school regime. Pares-bred, half-bred and other species of dogs will have to reorganize their lives, after the first stretch of wandering around away from the yard for long hours at a while, and coming home for brief periods, and then only with an air of forlornness and loneliness.

When the days begin to get in that fashion, it will be a pretty certain sign that school has started.

You Can Join the Provincial Health Department in a Partnership that will help to incorporate in Alberta

Health Unlimited!

You can help bring the Liability items over to the Asset side of the balance sheet by making use of present Health facilities — by fighting for ever-improved services — by reporting the first signs of sickness or disease — by spreading Health information at every opportunity.

UNLIMITED, abounding health throughout the length and breadth of Alberta—that is the aim of the Department of Health, Government of the Province of Alberta!

THIS unlimited health would be within the reach of all, if available medical knowledge and facilities were utilized to their full extent.

WHAT then stands in the way of its accomplishment?

LACK of information, poverty and inaccessibility!

IT IS these three obstacles to Health Unlimited that the Department of Health is fighting with all the weapons and resources at its disposal.

LACK OF INFORMATION it is fighting by distributing pamphlets.

POVERTY it is fighting by increasing free public health services as fast as the resources are available.

INACCESSIBILITY it is fighting by sending out into remote corners of the Province as many health facilities as possible.

This the Department is doing. BUT, you can help in this crusade for improved health . . . that is the reason for this advertisement . . . that is why the Health Department is suggesting that you join in a partnership to help bring about "Health Unlimited."

Your Health Department can spread information from now till Doomsday . . . your Health Department can make available free medical services . . . your Health Department can carry medical skill and knowledge to the furthestmost outposts of civilization . . . BUT its work will be in vain, unless YOU absorb the message and help spread the word . . . unless YOU make use of the services . . . unless YOU, who live in the inaccessible places, make known your ill.

So the Health Department here shows you the balance sheet and urges you to throw in your weight, your influence, your assistance in helping to stamp out sickness and disease, pestilence and death from within the borders of Alberta.

Learn what services are available. Learn how to use them. Help others to make the most of them. See that all cases of sickness and disease are reported to health authorities without delay.

This much YOU can do!

Study the balance sheet of Health Unlimited. Learn what has already been done. Learn what can still be done. Join this crusade toward abounding Health Unlimited and invest in a partnership that will bring to you and to everyone in this Province rich dividends of lasting health and happiness!

ASSETS ON THE BALANCE SHEET of "Health Unlimited"

DISEASE PREVENTION

Alberta's infantile death rate has been reduced from 126 per thousand living births to 63 deaths per thousand of living births. That means that in 1937 at least 915 infant lives were saved. Greater cooperation on the part of expectant mothers can help to increase the saving of infant life.

TRAVELING CLINICS

Staff including a surgeon, a dentist, a medical practitioner and a number of nurses travel by plane to the Province remote from medical services. Minor operations are performed and dental work is done. Examinations are conducted. Vaccinations and inoculations are performed. No other province in Canada operates this service.

CARE AND TRAINING OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS VICTIMS

Thirteen specially-trained personnel provide special medical treatment which reduces their disability to a minimum. The patients also receive special training which enables them to become self-sustaining. The Government bears the cost.

DISTRICT NURSING SERVICES

These services are organized in rural areas where people are remote from hospital and medical services. District Nursing Services were extended from 13 to 29 in 1939. During the past year 643 expectant mothers were given consultations. District Nurses gave 2,200 consultations and 956 vaccinations and brought relief from suffering to more than 8,000 persons.

TREATMENT OF TUBERCULOSIS

Since 1915 the available Sanatoria beds have been increased from 216 to 399, an increase of 83 beds. The Provincial Tuberculosis Clinics have also been increased materially. The Government bears all the expense.

MATERNAL WELFARE

Under The Hospitals Act of 1938, maternity cases were defined as "sudden and urgent," and thereby insured of more adequate medical services. Under The Maternal Welfare Act of 1939, provision has been made whereby a special grant is paid to expectant mothers who are in poor financial circumstances.

HEALTH UNITS

These units are established at Red Deer, High River and Lacombe, and plans for others are under way. These units provide modern preventive health facilities to distant rural communities. The Government bears half the cost.

WAR ON CANCER

Talented officers from early cancer are admitted by special statutory provision under the 1938 act to hospitals, a matter of urgent necessity for diagnosis and treatment at minimal expense. A special ACT passed at the 1939 session of the Legislature provides for a Commission for the Investigation of Cancer Research. The investigation Commission was appointed by Order in Council, June 17, 1939.

MENTAL HYGIENE

Prior to 1935, free regular mental hygiene (mental treatment) clinics operated with occasional clinics in the Peace River country. Since then, four more have been opened. The ones are in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Drumheller, High River, Ponoka, Claiborn, Red Deer and the northern area.

MENTAL HOSPITALS

Since 1936 three new buildings for the care of mental patients have been opened. Provision has been made for 425 more patients. 2,196 beds are at the present time being maintained.

LIABILITIES ON THE BALANCE SHEET of "Health Unlimited"

LACK OF INFORMATION

Lack of knowledge of the services available, of the signs and cause of disease, of what medical agencies can do for the sick and ill, and in the marking and elimination of many types of sickness and death causes, is a heavy liability in the fight for Health Unlimited in Alberta.

POVERTY

Lack of the means to purchase medical services and hospital treatment, with the fear of fear and embarrassment and its tendency to delay the reporting of diseases or ailments in their early and often curable stages is another big liability in Alberta's fight for Health Unlimited.

INACCESSIBILITY

The fact that many people in Alberta live far from the centre of civilization, where it is difficult to obtain medical attention and advice, coupled with the two preceding liabilities, form a serious handicap in the Health Department's war on disease, sickness and premature death.
